

PRA-GAD Livelihood Training Program Graduation

The Philippine Reclamation Authority Gender and Development (PRA-GAD) Livelihood Training Program came to its successful conclusion last December 16, 2019 at the Barangay Tambo Covered Court with the conduct of a commencement exercise for seventy-six (76) graduates – 10 for Food and Beverages/Hotel and Restaurant, 29 for Dishwashing and Fabric Conditioner Making, 23 for hotel housekeeping and 14 for Mug, Keychain, Eco bag and T-shirt Printing with Silkscreen.

From L-R: PRA-GAD Vice Chairperson Chona Flores, Councilor Tess De Asis, Councilor Kennedy Bidol, Barangay Chairperson Jennifer S. Quizon, PRA AGM Atty. Cristina A. Mortel; Mayor Edwin L. Olivarez (2nd from right) and Congressman Eric L. Olivarez (1st from right) recognized the efforts of the instructors through a Certificate of Appreciation.

Several dignitaries graced the occasion among them, Mayor Edwin L. Olivarez of Parañaque City, Congressman Eric L. Olivarez, Second District Councilor Tess De Asis and the representative from the City Social Welfare and Development Office. The Barangay Chairperson of Tambo Jennifer S. Quizon along with Barangay Councilor Kennedy Bidol were on hand to welcome the guests. Atty. Cristina A. Mortel, the Assistant General Manager for Legal and Administrative Services of PRA was present to hand out certificates and start-up kit to the graduates.

The training program was conceptualized to alleviate the economic situation of the people in the barangay by providing alternative livelihood projects that they can engage in. With the skills and knowledge, the graduates assimilated from the weekend classes they attended, opportunities for employment and income generating projects will open for them.

